CLINIC DEATH TOLL HITS 127 AS EXPERTS ACT

Cleveland Ruins are Turned Into Research Laboratory.

Twenty-eight More Patients Expected To Die.

By CARL L. TURNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, May 17.—Dr. A. J. Pearse, Cuyahoga county coroner, temporarily suspended investigation of the horrible Cleveland clinic disaster today and turned that institution into a research laboratory.

Preventive Measures Sought.
The coroner received a delegation from Chicago, headed by Dr. A. H. Kessel, health commissioner, and the party went to the clinic ruins to make investigations which it is hoped will form the bases of measures for preventing such catastrophes in the future.

300 MARCH OUT AS SCHOOL-BURNS

COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—(INS).—Three hundred students at the Ohio State School for the Deaf marched orderly to safety last night when fire started in the auditorium of the school as the children were waiting to witness a movie. The fire broke out in the projection booth and the operator after closing the door of the booth turned in the alarm. The students fled out of the building in an orderly fashion. Damage of $200 resulted, it was estimated today.

At that time unofficial sources estimated the death toll as high as 127, including two deaths in the last 12 hours. H. L. Rockwood, city health commissioner, had official records of 118 deaths.

Latest hospital reports told of 16 patients in critical condition at Cleveland Clinic hospital, a unit of the ill-fated institution, and 12 more in Mt. Sinai hospital.

There was little hope that the 28 would be able to triumph in their battle.

Gold and Credit.

The Church and Schools.

THOSE that read the Hoover report of extraordinary prosperity constantly increasing will ask, "How long can it last?"

It can last indefinitely, unless our supply of common sense gives out. President Hoover's report declares that this country has not more than "scratched the surface of its gigantic possibilities." Write that on your cuff, and don't sell things short in this country.

AMERICAN money and American credit are SUPPOSED to be upheld by a certain amount of gold.

Nobody knows anything about money, or its history; bankers, perhaps, less than anybody else. They were much opposed to the Federal Reserve banking system when it was proposed.

Now they adore it, since it assists them in the profitable practice of 15 and 20 per cent usury.

MR. AYRES, authority of a big Cleveland banking concern, is amazed at the weight of credit that a little gold can bear.

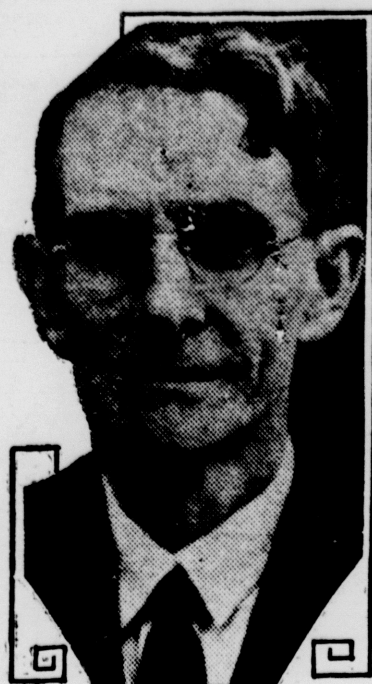

In 1924 we had four and a half billions in gold, supporting a bank credit of forty-five billions—ten to one.

In 1925 the gold supply amounted to 9 per cent of our bank credit; in 1927 it fell to 8 per cent. Now the percentage is lower than that. Now the fact, of course, is that gold is merely an idea—like an African witch doctor's fetish. The real thing back of credit is the wealth of the United States—land, resources, factories, people—NOT gold.

IN CONNECTION with recognition of the pope's temporal sovereignty, in Italy, there has been discussion as to control of schools. The matter was settled, for the Vatican, by the pope's address to the pupils of Mondragone college, published in the Osservatore Romano.

Joyce Wethered Wins British Women's Title For Fourth Time

Miss Collett Succumbs To England's Great Golfer.

By F. A. WRAY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ST. ANDREWS, Fife, Scotland, May 17.—Joyce Wethered, England's greatest woman golfer, won the British women's championship for the fourth time today when she eliminated Glenna Collett, the American champion, by three and one in the final round.

Miss Collett, the first American woman to reach the finals of the event in the 36 years of competition, succumbed to her great rival on the thirty-fifth green after one of the hardest fought matches ever played for the title. She played good golf, but no woman golfer in the world could have beaten Joyce Wethered today.

GIANT ZEPPELIN TURNS BACK ON ATLANTIC HOP

PENNSY RUSHES THIRD TRACK WORK IN CITY

Excavating Contract is Awarded to Peter Milliron.

$40,000 IS COST

Culverts Will be Wider; River Road to be Moved.

Work on a third track from the Golding & Sons flint mill to a point near the state line at a cost estimated at $40,000, was being rushed today by the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

Peter Milliron, Second street contractor, has been awarded the contract for excavating. Milliron is now working in the Mulberry street zone.

Widening of the concrete culvert over Carpenter's run near the flint mill is under way. Laying of track will be started as soon as the road bed is prepared.

Changes will be made at the C. & P. passenger station in connection with the relocation of the tracks. The eastbound station on the south side of tracks will be razed. An overhead foot bridge from the westbound station to the eastbound tracks will be constructed.

The River road between Walnut street and Broadway will be shifted about 13 feet toward the river bank. The present highway will be used for the new track. Moving of the highway will eliminate the curve in the road between Broadway and the Thompson pottery. A retaining wall will be needed to support the highway near Broadway. The railroad company will pay the cost of the work.

Needed for Switching Purposes.

The new track will be used for switching purposes. The improvement will facilitate the handling of freight shipments to industrial plants along the River front.

The railroad company has agreed to install flashing signal lights at the Broadway, Virginia avenue and Putnam street crossings and will also change the culvert at Ralston's crossing, thus aiding the proposed construction by the city of an improved highway between the River road and Pennsylvania avenue near the Garfield school.

EAST END WELL IS CONDEMNED

Fearing a typhoid fever outbreak, health board officials today had condemned and ordered closed a well in the East End known as "Marshall's Bottom," east of Oakland.

Analysis of samples of water taken from the well showed impurities which constitute a menace, it is said. Safety Inspector D. J. McKeever removed the pump handle from the well to prevent its use.

More than a dozen families in the district have been obtaining water from the well. The city water mains have been extended into the district.

TOLEDO W. C. T. U. WARS ON 'JOINTS'

TOLEDO, O., May 17.—(INS).—The W. C. T. U. has entered into the drive to rid this city of "speakeasies" and "bootlegging joints."

Members of the union furnished Mayor William T. Jackson with a list of addresses, where, they charged, liquor could be bought. Mayor Jackson declared he would conduct an investigation. The tendering of the list to the mayor followed his speech on "law observance" at a meeting of that body.

In his speech, the mayor said that during 1928, 4,992 punch boards and 818 slot machines had been confiscated by police. An average of one out of every 19 persons in Toledo was arrested for city and state violations last year, he pointed out.

"BUDDY POPPY" SALE SATURDAY

H. G. Green today was named chairman of the "Buddy Poppy" sale which will be conducted here tomorrow under the auspices of Private Eddy Post No. 66 Veterans of Foreign Wars in the office of City Solicitor Frank Hoover post commander on the second floor of the Marquett building.

High school girls and auxiliary members will sell poppies on the streets. Receipts will be used in defraying the expense of the Memorial Day observance.

Poppies which will be sold here were made by disabled veterans who are patients in government hospitals. Endorsement of the "Buddy Poppy" has been given by President Hoover to Eugene P. Carver Jr., commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the following letter:

"The annual 'Buddy Poppy' campaign under the auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, is a fitting symbol of the sacrifice of those who died in the service of our country, and should remind us of the obligations and sacrifice demanded of all good citizens in times of peace."

"The fact that the manufacture of these poppies gives employment to disabled ex-service men in the hospitals and elsewhere, add to the worthiness of the cause. I am glad to give my hearty endorsement to this worthy enterprise."

City Hospital X-Ray Room O. K.; No Danger of Explosion

Patients and Employees Protected Against Fire and Gas.

Patients and employees in the East Liverpool City hospital are protected against a catastrophe like that which exacted 127 lives in the Cleveland clinic, it was announced today by hospital officials.

Extraordinary precautions have been taken in the X-ray department at the hospital to guard against accident, Dr. J. W. Chetwynd, in charge of the X-ray work, said.

Old plates which were formerly used in the machine are stored in the basement of the hospital. Old celluloid films, blamed for the Cleveland disaster, are stored in a fire-proof cabinet. Films which have not been used are kept in a lead-lined chest.

The dark room in which films are developed is without windows and has only one door. This is ventilated through registers in the floor and ceiling. Should an explosion occur while the films are being developed, the death-dealing gas would be carried outside the building, Dr. Chetwynd said.

A new X-ray machine has been ordered.

Reported Over Ballons

LONDON, May 17.—(INS).—A distress message was sent out from the Graf Zeppelin shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon saying there was serious damage on board and that all the motors had stopped, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Lyons, France, at 5:30 o'clock this evening. At that time, the dispatch added, the Graf was drifting.

Another Exchange Telegraph dispatch said that, at 4:45 o'clock, the Zeppelin was over the village of Ballons, 23 miles southeast of Valence. The ship had turned several times in the wind.

PARIS, May 17.—(INS).—After lunging helplessly against stormy head winds for hours, the Graf Zeppelin prepared this afternoon to land in France, near Lyons.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the airship, sent a radiogram to the military commander at Lyons asking for troops to aid the landing, according to airport officials at the Le Bourget flying field.

Lat. r Dr. Eckener sent another message asking that troops be held in readiness to assist a landing at Valence, as he was apparently unable to reach Lyons, according to the Le Bourget authorities. Valence is 50 miles south of Lyons.

This later message indicated that the Graf was making slow progress against the gale she could not reach Lyons before 5 or 6 o'clock this evening.

After passing over the Valence district the Graf appeared to be in distress, pitching about in the wind. With her impaired motor power she

Buddy Poppy Day

Poppies, imitations of the flower that grows in Flanders fields, will be sold on the streets here tomorrow in observance of Buddy Poppy day by Private Eddy post, No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Proceeds from the poppy sale, made possible through the labor of disabled soldiers undergoing treatment in government hospitals, and who, too, benefit, will be used to defray the expenses of the East Liverpool post in joining with the Grand Army of the Republic, Sons of Veterans and American Legion in paying homage to the soldier and sailor dead on Memorial day.

The convass will be in charge of the Foreign War men's post and auxiliary and high school girls. The workers will devote the entire day to the drive.

Private Eddy post deserves the same measure of support that was given the G. A. R. in its Flag day sale earlier in the month and which should be accorded the American Legion in its Poppy sale on Saturday, May 25. In each instance the funds will be expended in the Memorial day exercises.

Week-end Accidents

Ohioans today are preparing for another week-end of automobile trips, which are usually accompanied by heavy casualties. Will Monday's newspapers be bountifully supplied with gruesome news of American automobile owners during Saturday night and Sunday?

Millions of drivers use the highways on Sunday who rarely drive during the week. Their presence adds to the ordinary dangers which confront the every-day driver in several ways. Week-end drivers are often less competent to handle their cars, they add to congestion, and many of them are too liberally imbued with the contested right of unrestricted freedom. Monday accident tolls usually reveal one or more cases of unhappy endings to Saturday night celebrations.

The police, automobile club officials, traffic experts and interested private citizens do their best to keep the accident list within the bounds of reason. It is easy to imagine what a shambles there might be. In spite of their consternation, however, the Monday lists are constantly on the increase. Recently, the airplane, which is hardly in the realm of their jurisdiction, has vied for first place with the automobile and has, in many instances, more than caught up with the toll.

Automobile manufacturers compute production in terms of millions. Tax authorities compute their revenue from the motor car in terms of millions. Everything about the automobile is spoken of in big figures. Prosperity has placed the advantages of high-speed travel at the command of nearly everyone. Highways on Sunday resemble a beehive of transportation activity, with thousands attempting to reach a definite point and millions rushing aimlessly to any destination that fancy may dictate.

The situation calls for philosophy. It must be taken for granted that such a rush will result in a large number of fatalities and injuries. Wherever a large number of persons travel at high rates of speed in devices constructed of metal there will be disastrous collisions. It is entirely consistent with all theories of matter that numbers of units confined in a definite space will collide and sometimes be destroyed.

Accidents can never be eliminated. It is possible that by the use of extreme caution they can be kept from increasing too rapidly, but high-speed transportation will take its toll.

Dollars Doubtful Issue

There is reason for a good chuckle in the apparent argument, used by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, that prohibition is a bad thing because it eliminates revenue that otherwise would have been derived from liquor sales. Figures on the expense of enforcement are convincing, but the statement about the loss of revenue takes some of the force out of the arguments.

It would be an indiscreet issue, even if it were applied to something less vital than prohibition. It is patently a wall at the loss of good American dollars, even though there may be a gain in other directions. It is difficult to estimate the economic gain that prohibition has brought about, because it is impossible to know how much gain there might have been had the country remained wet. Therefore, the visible loss of revenues is seized upon as a point in the bitter argument.

Sacred as the dollar may be to Americans, there are some who don't care to have greed thrown up to them on every occasion. It is a little too much to be told that prohibition enforcement is lamented because it eliminates a juicy source of revenue. The loss must be made up in taxation of another sort, but who can deny that many of the persons who were never able to meet their taxes in the days of King Alcohol are more able to pay taxes now? It has worked a hardship on personal whims and appetites, but, if economics is to be used as an argument, it has increased the size of workingmen's purses.

Loss of revenue is a poor argument to bring up before a nation that retains its idealism. After all, there are other things as worthwhile as the pursuit of wealth, be it national or personal.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—The development of international crime has been so rapid since the growth of international business following the close of the World war, that thirty-five nations have concluded a lengthy investigation into methods of stopping international counterfeiting, and twenty-four of them have already signed a treaty aimed at cooperation in stamping out this menace. The United States has not yet agreed to the convention, for technical reasons, but took part in the conference at Geneva which drafted the treaty, and will probably agree to the principles laid down at that meeting, which lasted through the greater part of the month of April of this year. Hugh R. Wilson, our minister to Switzerland, has reported at length to the department of state on the agreements drawn up by the conference.

The counterfeiting of money was the primary subject for the Geneva conference, but counterfeiting of business documents, such as stock certificates, bills of exchange, bonds, and checks was considered at length. The problem which faced the conferees was the operation of criminals who counterfeit the money of one country while living and operating in another country. In many cases the laws of a country have been designed to punish counterfeiting of the currency of that country, but have not provided equal penalties for the falsification of the money of other countries.

Since the war there has grown up, especially in Europe, a considerable criminal operation in international counterfeiting of money and securities and business papers, and in many cases the laws of the country where the crimes have been committed have not been adequate to deal with them. The criminals have been careful not to infringe on the currency of the nation in which they were operating. Thus one of the most extensive plots for this character was discovered a few years ago in Hungary, where French notes were being manufactured by counterfeiters and circulated in great quantity throughout Austria, Hungary, and the Balkan states.

Since that episode there have been repeated cases of international counterfeiting, and the League of Nations finally took steps to call the conference of thirty-five nations which was held this spring. Several non-members of the league, including the United States, took part.

The presiding officer of the conference was M. Pospisil, governor of the national bank of Czechoslovakia. Mr. Wilson, for the United States, and M. Shober, for Austria, were vice presidents. Two principal committees, one on law and one on administrative measures, did a large part of the detailed work.

The net result so far has been the drafting of a set of definitions of counterfeiting which all nations will be asked to adopt in their domestic laws, and an agreement that each nation will establish, or designate if already established, a central office which shall correspond with the central offices of the other nations on questions of counterfeiting, exchange information, and cooperate in the apprehension of criminals.

Each nation finally signing the treaty or convention drawn up at Geneva will agree to make it a crime, in that country, to counterfeit the currency of any other country, equally punishable with offenses against the domestic currency.

Counterfeiting will be made a universally extraditable offense. Each country having habitual criminal laws will recognize convictions for counterfeiting had in any other country, as proof of habitual criminality.

Numerous other details are covered by the convention, and it is specified that if disagreements arise between countries in carrying out the provisions of the agreement, the final resort shall be to the permanent court of international justice. One reason for the United States' not signing the convention immediately is the fact that this country does not belong to the world court.

After adopting the treaty, the Geneva gathering also adopted a form of agreement which called a final act, which was agreed to by the United States and nine other countries which have not yet signed the treaty. By this agreement the countries which for various reasons were unprepared to sign a treaty, agree to do all in their power to carry out the purposes of the treaty in cooperation to restrain counterfeiting, and to detect and punish it. Each will designate the authority in its own country which handles such work, and set up a definite line of communication with similar police authority in the other countries. In the United States this authority is the secret service of the department of the treasury, which is thus brought into a closer contact with similar authorities in all countries.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

In a letter received from a reader, the writer asked this question: "Will you kindly explain what iodine does to us?"

Scientists have studied the secretion of the thyroid gland. This is the gland in the neck which becomes enlarged in goitre.

In the secretion of this gland is a substance which has been named "thyroxin." It has been determined that this compound is essential to normal health. It acts as a regulator of metabolism.

Now don't be scared, please. I shall attempt to explain.

You know what a "thermostat" is. I refer to the clock-like mechanism, seen in the rooms of hotels, public buildings and even private homes where they have central heating—particularly where oil or gas is used for fuel.

The thermostat controls the dampers of the furnace or the inflow of the fuel. In this way, it regulates the amount of heat which flows to the given room. In every sense the thermostat is a regulator of temperature.

The fluids generated in the so-called ductless glands, of which the body may be referred to as the learned men call "hormones." They have marked effects upon all the vital functions—the heart beat, the breathing, the action of the digestive organs, etc.

The changes which take place in storing up food in the body and in using this stored material to operate the body, may be referred to as the activities concerned in metabolism. This, too, is effected by the secretions of the ductless glands.

Now you begin to see how important it is to take food which will supply all the elements going to make up the essential thyroxin. The latter is a chemical compound, and iodine is absolutely necessary to its formation.

You will recall the newspaper stories about the trout up in Wisconsin where President Coolidge went last summer. Some of the fish suffered from goitre. The president's doctor knew what to do—he proceeded

As a professing Christian do you exemplify your religion?

Church-going does not make you a Christian. Sunday, the Sabbath Day, should mean no more to you than any other day of the week, so far as doing right is concerned.

Perhaps you represent the type which sets Sunday aside as the only day to be careful of what you do and say.

Is it the only day when you feel deep, religious conviction and obligation?

Have you trained yourself to think that you can have an elastic conscience during all days but Sunday?

And then when Sunday comes you assume another role and seem to feel more or less deeply the fact that Sunday is the Lord's day.

Perhaps you think that going to church and observing the day as a Sabbath should be observed, constitutes your whole duty as a Christian.

But to be straight and honest and honorable and dutiful one day a week is far from being a Christian.

You are living a lie when you don't live up to the Christian principles the other six days as well as Sunday—and you want to be known as a Christian.

When you accepted it you promised to give your life—seven days a week. Are you doing it?

With May Came Tramps and Peddlers

How much traffic that once began with spring our country turnpikes will never see again! Without a glance at calendar or landscape a traveler could have told the season from the character of his comrades of the road. This month brought out the peddlers, the tramps, the gypsies, the umbrella-menders, the scissors-grinders, the patent medicine men, the "Lives of Our Presidents" ladies, the junk merchants and those wandering traders who drove strings of horses and ponies through county after county, dicker as they rode and leaving many a mustang in harness, many a calico cayuse tethered at a New England horseblock. That was a sight to remember—a hundred strange horses thronging past the house, a drove of itinerant cattle breaking away and galloping over lawns! Those animals had come from awful distances—way out west! They were as disturbing in their effect upon the imagination as wild geese or the gypsies who might carry children off but so often neglected to do it.

There is no thrill in tramps since they have become motorized, but once every housewife had her technique for dealing with them, when they emerged in the spring. Some locked the doors and pulled down the shades as they came into view down the road, listening fearfully while the big feet clumped about on the stoop, peering to see if they'd gone yet. Some blew a horn and called the men. Some said with spirit, "You git right along out o' this, now. I got nothing for you." Some prided themselves on always giving tramps a first class meal, same as the family's. "And it is really the safest way." But tramps are no longer what they were, and in numbers today they are shockingly few. And umbrella-menders are even scarcer, and no one now believes in magic medicine—much.

The tin-peddler, too, who was the most fun of all, has lost his vocation, for with stores brought close by automobiles and parcel post his enchanting bargains and exchange offers lost their lure. But time was when you could save up old newspapers, rags, bottles, bones, harness, iron tinfoil, and really get something for "em—a glittering new tea-strainer, a nutmeg-grater, a sieve, needles, even a dishpan, if you had enough rags and papers. It was just like finding money! One's blood raced at the sound of the bell of the tin-peddler's wagon for any smart boy could earn a present for his mother, then, by simply accumulating enough junk, an enterprise natural to youth. In pursuing tinfoil its sanitary state had to be forgotten. The worth of bones made one ponder crime. Such expectations used to crowd the springtime roads with excitement, but now traffic is the same the year round and how monotonous it looks! Nothing but automobiles in a hurry.—New York Herald-Tribune.

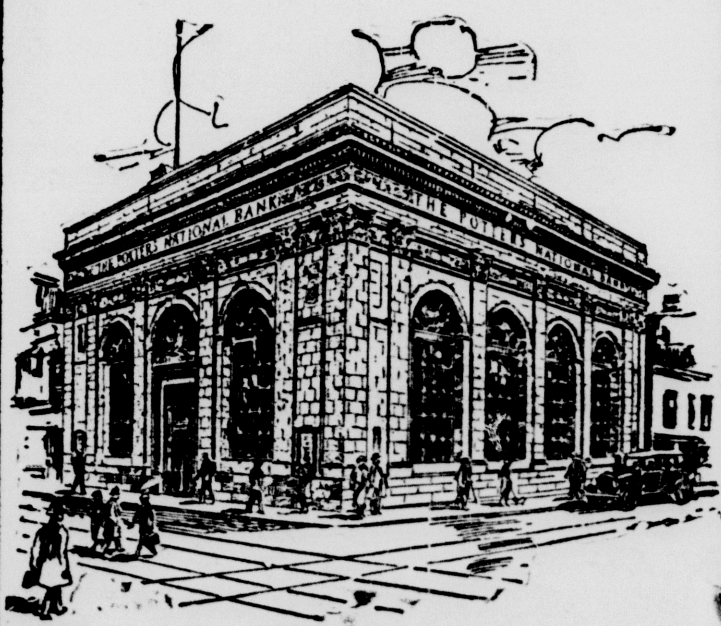

That is why we should include in the diet such articles of food as carry iodine. Sea-fish is one of these. That is why I have mentioned salmon in this connection. That fish contains iodine, essential to the proper regulation of the changes in our tissues. In a sense, you see, this element acts as the thermostat, a regulator of well-being. Amusements

MARY WEARS FIVE 'COQUETTE' GOWNS

Mary Pickford, who is appearing in her first all-talking picture, "Coquette," at the State theater, believes that the emotions of a dramatic scene can be accepted by the clothing worn by the players. In "Coquette" she wears five gowns, each one expressive of the underlying feeling of the scenes in which it appears.

The frock she wears in the opening episode is an orchid tulle dancing dress. The gay girliness of it expresses the buoyancy of the little flirt, who tells each of her southern beaux that he is "adorable," and then dances on to the next conquest.

Miss Pickford's second evening gown, worn in the dramatic scenes of the country club, where she meets her lover, Michael Jeffrey, and goes with him to his cabin in the hills, is a subtle combination of naïveté and sophistication.

The apple green, printed silk morning dress, which she wears in the later dramatic scenes, spells pathos in the youth of its lines. The gaiety of its coloring and the chic of its design enhance the tragedy into which Norma wears it.

And for the heartbreak of the episodes following the death of Michael, Miss Pickford chose a beige tailored dress, severe in its simplicity.

A delicate psychology of clothes was expressed in the court-room outfit worn by the desolate little coquette. Constrained to pretend a guilty love to save the life of her father, Norma dares not wear mourning for her dead sweetheart. For this sequence Miss Pickford chose a tweed ensemble suit of marine blue, with cuffs and collar of gray fox fur, and a girlishly simple gray felt hat.

CROOK PICTURE IS CERAMIC HIT

"Kid Gloves" which opened at the Ceramic theater yesterday, is another crook picture, but a crook picture with a difference. The story is unique, so is photography, the staging and the direction. The superb cast is headed by the most popular of motion picture stars, Conrad Nagel, who again essays one of those hard-fisted roles in which he excels.

Lois Wilson is lovely as a young society girl, who, by an unexpected turn of events finds herself the storm center of a gun battle.

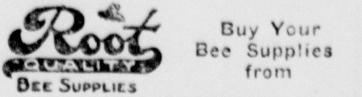

Later, carried into the apartment of Lou, a shoplifter, by the taxi driver who is revived by "Kid Gloves" Smith, hijacker, who had been the instigator

"VOICE OF CITY" WINS PLAUDITS

"The Voice of the City," Willard Mack's all-talking picture which opened at the American theater last night, is an excellent example of the high entertainment talking pictures can afford. It is a Cosmopolitan production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and is just about one of the best stories of gangland the screen has yet offered. The story deals with a jail-break and the man hunt following. "The Voice of the City" permits all the crisp dialogue of the stage plays of Willard Mack, its author and director, plus a much wider range of scene. It is to be doubted if on the stage the action could move as fast as it does in this talking picture. The entire plot is condensed within 24 hours and so rapidly does it unfold that last night's audience hardly ever had a chance to get off the edges of their seats. Robert Ames and Sylvia Fields are lovely as the two romantic leads, but Willard Mack gives a character interpretation of the detective, which will be remembered as one of the greatest impersonations of the year.

CITY ORDERS EQUIPMENT TO TREAT PHENOL

Steps are Taken to Overcome Odor of Water.

MILLS BLAMED

Chlorine Apparatus Will Cost Approximately
$4,000.

Unpleasant tastes and odors in city water, caused by phenol from Pennsylvania steel mills, will be eliminated by new equipment which will be installed by the state in the municipal filtration plant at the state line, Chemist Harit Larkins announced today.

Equipment, costing approximately $4,000, with which water containing an extra large amount of phenol can be treated, has been purchased from the Wallace and Tiernan company, New York manufacturers of chlorine apparatus.

With it, raw water as it comes from the river will be pre-chlorinated.

State department of health considered applications from Steubenville, Belleire, Portsmouth, Ironton and other river towns before offering the apparatus to East Liverpool, which will be the only town in the state possessing such equipment.

The new plant will be in charge of Larkins, who has been offered the services of four experts in an advisory capacity. It will be operated without expense to the city.

The phenol in water here, accord to the state department of health, has been traced to steel mills at Alliquippa, Pa.

"KONJOLA BEST MEDICINE IN DRUG STORE"

Man Says He Will Indorse Konjola to Everyone Because He Knows What
It Will Do.

J.R. ED. FAIRALL

"I am recommending Konjola because it is the best medicine in the drug store," said Mr. Ed. Fairall, 620 South Ludlow Street, Dayton. "Konjola relieved me of a severe case of stomach trouble. Gas bloating and severe pains in the pit of my stomach followed every meal. I was not getting the proper nourishment; nothing seemed to agree with me. My condition became so bad that at times I thought I would not be able to stand the misery."

"But Konjola freed me from all my aches and pains. Konjola is the best medicine in the drug store. Today I feel like a new man. My food digests as it should, and I get the proper nourishment. What a blessing it is to be freed from the dreadful bloating and gas pains! I am enjoying the best health I have had in years. I owe a great debt to Konjola and am indorsing it because I know what it can do."

Konjola is sold in East Liverpool at Carnahan's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

CAPONE, BEER BARON, AND PAL HELD IN JAIL

"Scarface Al" Nabbed By Police in Philadelphia.

BOND IS HEAVY

Chicagoan and His Bodyguard Face Gun Charges.

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—(INS.)—"Scarface Al" Capone, notorious Chicago beer baron, and his bodyguard, Frank Cline, pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons in municipal court today and were given sentences of one year each in the county prison by Judge John A. Walsh.

BY E. L. RAWLEY, (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—"Scarface Al" Capone, Chicago beer baron, was in the Philadelphia jail today in default of $35,000 bail on charges of carrying concealed deadly weapons.

Arrested with his bodyguard, Frank Cline, as they were leaving a motion picture theater at 15th and Market streets last night, the men were hurried to city hall. Cline also was held in default of $35,000 bail when they were arraigned before Magistrate Edward Carney.

Carney gave Capone and Cline a verbal grilling when they were brought before him.

"You are undoubtedly responsible for many murders in the United States," the magistrate told Capone. "Authorities in many cities are afraid of you, but Philadelphia is not afraid of you, Mr. Al Capone. My only regret is that you are not before me on charges which would justify me in ridding the United States of you forever."

Headed for Chicago, Capone and Cline were arrested by Detectives James ("Shokey") Malone and John Crendon.

"Hello, Shokey," Capone greeted the detectives when he was accosted. "Well, Shokey, I've got a gun on me," the Chicago gangster added when he saw Malone's fellow detective.

"Then I'll have to take you in," Malone explained as the pair were taken into custody. Cline also was carrying a pistol, the detectives told the magistrate.

The two men were searched, photographed and their fingerprints were taken. Capone had a diamond ring said to be worth $25,000. Money running into four figures was found on each man.

Capone confided to Malone, whom he knew, having met him at the Sharkey-Stribling fight in Florida, that he was headed for Chicago.

"I've been at Atlantic City for a few days," he explained. "Went to the shore as soon as I came up from Miami. I'm on my way to Chicago."

Arrested Near Theater. The pair arrived here about 7 o'clock last night from the seashore resort. They went to the theater to kill time, Capone said.

"I was going to flag the midnight train for Chi," Capone explained to Safety Director L. B. Schofield. "Honestly, I just went to the movie to kill time."

The arrests were made shortly before midnight. At 12:10 a. m. the men were arraigned. Scarcely had the hearing been concluded when two attorneys came rushing to the magistrate's courtroom to represent Capone. They protested the heavy bail but were not allowed to see the prisoners.

Wallet, Containing $1,000 Stolen. COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—(INS.)—A wallet, containing $1,000 was stolen from the room of J. S. Edman in a downtown rooming house here, according to a report he made to police today.

HAS HER WAY

After her husband spent $72 a minute telephoning Friedrichshafen to tell Mrs. Mary J. Pierce, of New York, not to book passage on the Graf Zeppelin, she decided she was in a hurry to get back to him and boarded the Graf. However, she has been disappointed, for the dirigible has turned back to Friedrichshafen. She is the only woman passenger.

Motors Stop, Graf Drifts

could not make any forward progress. Dr. Eckenker's reported request for troops to aid a landing at Valence was evidently dictated by a desire to make a landing before darkness fell.

18 Passengers on Board.

The French air officials received this news at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Dr. Eckenker was reported to have announced in his wireless message that he was unable to continue any further.

All day long the Graf Zeppelin, with only two of her five motors working, had been fighting powerful headwinds over the Rhine valley in Southeastern France, trying to make her way to her home port at Friedrichshafen.

The airship had 18 passengers on board. She had to abandon her transatlantic flight from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst, N. J., late yesterday when two of the rear motors became disabled over Spain. The third went dead while the ship was trying to battle her way up along the Rhine valley towards the Swiss frontier this morning.

From daybreak until late afternoon the German air commander tried with all the skill at his command to outmaneuver the stormy winds by rising above and circling them, but without avail.

The ship swept in circles between Montclair and Lyons.

Reported South of Valence.

VALENCE, France, May 17.—(INS.)—The Graf Zeppelin at 6:30 o'clock tonight was returning toward Montclair, south of Valence, where there is a favorable airfield for landing.

Word was received here that troops are standing by to aid the airship.

BERLIN, May 17.—(INS.)—The Graf Zeppelin was near Lyons, France, at 11:40 o'clock this morning, flying at 30 miles an hour, according to word reaching here this afternoon. Lyons is 170 miles north of Marseilles and 53 miles from the Swiss frontier.

Lyons is 72 miles north of Montclair, where, according to a Paris cablegram, the Zeppelin was sighted at 1:20 p. m. The dispatches indicated that the airship had traveled in a wide circle.

SAFETY DRIVE ENDS SATURDAY

"Save a Life" Awards Will be Made at Theater.

"Save a Life" campaign in Columbiana County, sponsored by the Columbiana County Motor club, will close tomorrow night.

On the stage of the Ceramic theater, the names of three automobile owners who will be presented with one-year memberships in the Motor club and three others who will receive $1,000 accident insurance policies will be drawn. These winners will be selected from 60 motorists, who will be cited for careful driving in East Liverpool this week.

Boy Scouts delivered safety talks in 262 school rooms of the county yesterday afternoon. In East Liverpool 112 elementary school rooms were visited. Albert P. Morris, manager of the motor club, addressed the high school students.

Winners of the free theater tickets yesterday were:

H. A. Walker, Bradshaw avenue; C. D. Simpson, Box 250, city; Lee C. Mackey, Walnut street; F. Farnsworth, 1313 Erie street; J. W. Hulme, 739 Minerva street; Leonard Webber, Crocker City Ice & Products company; J. E. Shinkler, 922 Lincoln avenue; Frank Elvno, Edgeworth avenue; J. A. Scott, St. Clair avenue; Claude Nease, Highland colony.

Clinic Toll 127

He with the dreaded "slow death" which has cast a pall of sorrow over Cleveland since last Wednesday when exploding X-ray film filled the clinic with poisonous gas.

Coroner Defers Inquiry.

Dr. Pearce had planned to question Samuel Steele, maintenance man and electrician at the clinic, but decided to defer the investigation in the belief that more could be accomplished by accompanying the Chicago experts to the ruins.

Other delegations from Washington and Pittsburgh were due later in the day. They, too, will don firemen's rubber boots and coats and examine the ruins in the interests of science.

The devastated clinic has, in fact, been converted into a research laboratory where the expert toxicologists will study the conditions under which the deadly gas, now believed to be nitric oxide, was generated.

Dr. Pearce pointed out that the Cleveland disaster was so unusual and of such grave proportions that it had attracted the attention of scientists all over the country, many of whom will come here to investigate its causes and effects.

Out of the scientists' work probably will come standardized practices for handling the X-ray accessories which when ignited, become so deadly.

Witness is Questioned. After the visit of the Chicago delegation, Coroner Pearce, attaches of the county prosecutor's office and police officials were closeted together for more than an hour. Samuel F. Steele, one of the key witnesses in the investigation, who was located by detectives last night, was the principal witness.

After questioning him, Coroner Pearce ordered Steele held for further interrogation this afternoon.

Steele was in the subbasement and talked to Buffery Boggs, steamfitter who had been working where the X-ray films were stored shortly before the fatal blast. H. W. Becker, pharmacist who was in the building at the time, also was questioned.

Previously Steele told County Prosecutor Ray Miller that he was in the subbasement washing bottles when Boggs came in and asked for a fire extinguisher. Steele said he saw Boggs spray the contents of the extinguisher on a cloud of blue and yellow smoke which seemed to increase in volume as the steamfitter sprayed it with chemicals.

Plan to Fix Responsibility. Later in the day Dr. Pearce may resume his investigation, the purpose of which is to establish the cause and fix the responsibility. He has definitely announced there will be no coroner's jury and intimated that he is satisfied no one was criminally responsible.

Biggest was held incommunicado in the Central police station until the coroner finds time to interrogate him. Dr. Pearce feels that Steele may be able to furnish some important facts as he was working in the basement at the time of the explosion.

Other than Dr. Kege in the Chicago delegation were Dr. W. D. McNally, eminent toxicologist; Russell Hobbs, assistant manager of the Western Actuarial bureau; Archibald F. Martin, associate chemist and engineer of the Underwriters' laboratory; and F. J. Prindiville, engineer for the Bureau of Fire Prevention.

Financial Assistance Offered

Dr. McNally was told that only the victims who became panic-stricken and hysterical died violent deaths. The others exposed to the nitric oxide gas died a painless death and 80 per cent of those exposed have died.

A committee of 36 wealthy Clevelanders who will lend financial assistance in rehabilitating the nationally known clinic announced that temporary quarters would be opened during the day and new patients received. Samuel Mather, philanthropist, headed the committee.

Football Star Clinic Victim.

CANTON, O., May 17.—(INS.)—Ben Jones, 31, widely known football player, died early today at his home in Grove City, Pa., from effects of bromide gas inhaled while a patient in the ill-fated Cleveland clinic.

Jones had gone to the clinic for a tonsil operation, and apparently believed himself not seriously affected by the gas, for he left for home immediately after leaving the hospital. He died from its effects.

Jones, a former Canton Bulldogs football star, received all-American mention at Grove City college in 1922. He played football here in 1923 and 1925, and later was fullback for the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets, professionals.

"Spontaneous Combustion" Blamed

COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—(INS.)—An official report attributing the Cleveland clinic disaster to "spontaneous combustion" was submitted today to State Fire Marshal Ray R. Gill by T. C. Martinez, Cleveland, assistant state fire marshal. The report covers Martinez's investigation which was completed yesterday.

Martinez's report details the activities of Buffery Boggs, Cleveland pipefitter, who was working in the film room in the basement of the clinic building when the catastrophe occurred.

MOCK WAR TIE ON FIRST DAY

"Who's winning this war, anyhow?" was the question being asked in Ohio today by thousands of people who are interested and excitedly watching the 11-day mock war, now being fought over the Buckeye state.

In answer to the foregoing query, Brig. Gen. B. J. Foulis said: "It really doesn't matter." He declared that the principle involved is the training of staffs and birdmen of the United States army.

"It was a tie, yesterday," was the report of most commanding officers of both the blue and red air forces which are staging the biggest aerial demonstration ever displayed in this country.

Red aviators, who are defending Norton Field, and eastern Ohio, claim a victory, however.

THOSE that oppose the debenture scheme for "farm relief" announce with horror that the "farm bounty plan" MIGHT cost the treasury $200,000,000 a year. That wouldn't be much if it gave genuine relief.

THE trouble is that the "debenture" or bounty plan would add many millions to profits of middlemen who do all the exporting and little if any of the bounty would reach the farmers.

TWO hundred million dollars isn't such a big sum.

Britain, more heavily taxed than any other nation on earth, distributes FIFTY MILLION POUNDS ($250,000,000) a year in doles to the unemployed.

The issue between Lloyd George and the Tories at the coming election will be Lloyd George's proposition to put the idle men to work and let them earn their $250,000,000, and more, building good roads, instead of continuing to feed an army of parasites.

MRS. L. P. STALLWORTH and Mrs. Grace Morrison, both Texas ladies, met on the street in Amarillo.

Mrs. Stallworth "rumped" three bullets from an old-fashioned gun into Mrs. Morrison, now dead. She surrendered, telling the police: "That woman was a rival for my husband's affection."

That's a dangerous thing to do in Texas and in many other places.

What a Texas jury will do about the case you can guess.

Truck Driver Is Fined.

Leonard Auld, truck driver, was fined $50 and costs by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today after he pleaded guilty to a charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated. He was arrested in East End last night by Patrolman George Kidder.

degree from Columbia university this spring. He holds degrees from Ohio Wesleyan university and the University of Michigan and until this year was superintendent of schools at Mayfield Ill. He has been offered the superintendency at White Plains, N. Y., but he has withheld his decision pending the action of the local board.

While no action on the salary to be paid the new school head was taken last night, indications are an increase over the present $4,500 stipend will be necessary. None of the applicants will accept the post at $4,500, it was announced.

No Teacher Appointments.

No action on the appointment of teachers for 1929-30 was taken. The teachers' committee, which includes the entire board, will meet prior to the next meeting to consider applications. An athletic coach, to succeed Joseph Hurst, who recently resigned to return to his home in New Philadelphia, will also be named, probably at the meeting on June 6.

Annual picnic of the East Liverpool school children will be held at Rock Springs park at Chester on Saturday, June 1. C. C. Macdonald, manager of the park, who appeared before the board to arrange for the outing, said that five complimentary tickets, good on any amusement in the park, would be given each child. The Stenbenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company will provide free transportation. Pupils from Chester, Newell, Wellsville and Salineville will picnic at the park on the same day, Macdonald said.

Trespassers Warned.

John Hughes, superintendent of buildings, was instructed to notify school janitors that trespassing upon school property except during school hours is prohibited. Member Croxall declared that damage had been done to the Maplewood school by children.

STORK WINNER IN AIR RACE

TOLEDO, O., May 17.—(INS.)—The stork grained in decision here today and if the bird had any fingers he would more than likely wiggle them at the airplane, for he bested that mode of aerial transportation in a race yesterday.

Earl S. Twining, of the engineering department of a spark plug company, was in Indianapolis representing his concern in the annual automobile race there. He was informed by telephone that he was to have an heir. Twining commanded the airplane of Dick Dodd, Indianapolis millionaire sportsman, and hopped off for this city. It took him only about two hours to reach here, but when he arrived home the little Twining had already arrived.

who were using the grounds as a playlot after school hours.

The board deferred action on the application of Miss Hazel Minnix who wishes to rent one room in the Central or Sixth street school building one day a week during the summer vacation in which to conduct a music school.

Invitation to members of the board and their wives to attend the seniors' parents' reception in the high school building next Wednesday and the senior class banquet in the Presbyterian church, Friday, May 24, as well as an invitation from the junior class to the junior-senior reception tonight were accepted.

George W. Wickersham, former attorney general, who probably will act as chairman. Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland, former secretary of war. James R. Garfield, of Cleveland, former secretary of the interior. George Wharton Pepper, of Philadelphia, former senator.

Arthur C. Denison, of Grand Rapids, Mich., judge of the sixth U. S. circuit, who sits in Cincinnati.

It is expected that the commission will be composed of nine.

FLORIDA GROCER SLAIN BY MOB

LAKE CITY, Fla., May 17.—(INS.)—Taken from jail where he was held in connection with an altercation in which his wife was slain, N. G. Romey, grocer, was shot to death by a mob near here early today.

Romey's body was found by a passerby in a ditch along a highway two miles from Lake City.

DAVIS ACCEPTS PHILIPPINES POST

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(INS.)—Dwight F. Davis, secretary of war in the Coolidge administration, has accepted the post as governor general of the Philippines, tendered him by President Hoover, International News Service learned today.

Davis' acceptance was received this morning. He had been holding up a definite answer because of his wife's health.

Four Years of Neuritis Suffering Curbed

Popular Newell, W. Va. Young Lady Almost at the Point of Despair. Finds Relief in Owa-Ton-Na.

Young and old, men and women in all walks of life praise this fine old Indian Remedy in kidney, liver, stomach and bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness and a general run down condition of health. Many who have reached the point of despair, feeling that there is no further help for them, have found in Owa-Ton-Na a new way to health. Not through the use of dangerous, harmful drugs but by nature's own roots, herbs and berries. Owa-Ton-Na is an old Indian formula which has been successfully used for generations among the Indians. It can now be had at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 East 6th St., where a special laboratory representative is explaining to eager health seekers the benefits to be derived from its use. It does not perform miracles nor is it a cure-all. Its aid in the elimination of harmful poisons from the system results in giving nature a chance to rebuild normal health.

Miss Birdie Smith, Jefferson St., Newell, W. Va. has had such remarkable results with Owa-Ton-Na that it is a wonder that her many friends comment on her enthusiasm yet when one knows the discouraging time that Miss Smith has had, even at so young an age, it is not surprising that she is enthusiastic about this fine old Indian Remedy. Time after time, she had tried different medicines and expensive treatments trying to rid herself of the condition which was breaking down her health.

Discouraging indeed are the constant disappointments of unsuccessful treatment. She felt that her only hope lay in the consultation of expensive specialists. Owa-Ton-Na has made this unnecessary and once again Miss Smith enjoys the abundant health which is her right in the Springtime of life. She says: "Had I only known about Owa-Ton-Na long ago, I could have saved myself no end of misery. Kidney, liver and stomach disorders were breaking down my health. Food of any kind gave me no end of distress, gas and bloating spells would crowd my heart and make me short of breath. Food just lay in my stomach like a lump of lead and didn't seem to digest."

"Constipation made this condition worse and a sluggish liver made me tired, worn out and nervous. My kidneys, too, gave me a great deal of trouble. Bladder irritation made it necessary for me to get up several times each night to relieve this condition. The joints all over my body seemed to have sharp, piercing pains and I was afraid that rheumatism would get a good hold on me. I have seen so many people who suffered with this condition and have suffered so much with it myself that I did everything I could to avoid it. I got so discouraged, I didn't know what to do. I had tried everything that had been recommended to me yet nothing seemed to do me any good."

"One day I called at the drug store and learned about the good that Owa-Ton-Na was doing in so many cases similar to mine and as a last resort I tried even this. Much to my surprise the medicine seemed to act differently than anything I had ever taken. In just a few bottles I felt like a different person. Food digested better, no more gas and bloating spells, my bowels began to act regularly and kidneys more normally. Backaches disappeared and gradually I could feel a difference in my rheumatism."

"Pains were not so severe and it wasn't long until they were completely gone. I just can't believe that any one medicine could do as much for me as Owa-Ton-Na has. I can now go to bed and sleep the whole night through, getting up in the morning refreshed and once again enjoy myself. Would that I could tell all sufferers personally about this fine old Indian Remedy. Words cannot express the good I have received through its use."

Cases like this of Miss Smith's are not unusual in the history of Owa-Ton-Na. Time after time it has been successful where all other methods have failed. If you are suffering, why hesitate another day? Why not at least give this harmless remedy a trial. A trial bottle is usually sufficient to prove its merits to you personally. Call at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 E. 6th St. and have a talk with the laboratory representative today. Owa-Ton-Na is also obtainable at Carnahan's East End and Newell, W. Va. Stores.

"Dirty ring around the washtubs" is a dangerous sign

IT MEANS the clothes aren't snowy white. It means there's dirt in them. It means scum forms when you put soap in the water. And that means you're using hard water. Scum always forms in hard water.

What to do? Soften the water with Melo and it is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. No dirty ring forms. The clothes wash snowy white. Delightful suds. DRY AGENTS COLE, LITTLE RESIGN

COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—(INS.)—Edward Little and John O. Cole are merely private citizens today.

The two former state prohibition officers, whose alleged "high-pressure" methods in using minor high school girls at Lancaster as "decoys" in gathering evidence against liquor violators led to their suspension and a wave of indignation to sweep Ohio, resigned "voluntarily."

State Prohibition Commissioner R. R. Beetham accepted their resignations.

Little, whose home is in Dayton was the first to offer the "self-rejection" slip to Beetham. Cole, a Steubenville man, when informed of Little's action, also decided to "fire" himself.

Four Cornered Race For Pennant Looms In American Circuit

Detroit St. Louis Spurring

Yanks and Macks to Have Opposition This Year.

By Les Conklin.
NEW YORK, May 17.—The pleasing prospect of a four-cornered race in the American league this season, instead of a solo parade by the Yankees or a sectional duel between the Yankees and the Athletics, becomes increasingly plausible as the smoke of the first interseasonal battles clear away. St. Louis and Detroit won yesterday while the two leaders had an off day, and today only 50 percentage points separate the league-leading Mackmen from the fourth-place Tigers.

General Alvin Crowder of the Browns helped Cleveland to two hits yesterday in winning an old-fashioned pitching duel from Walter Miller, 1 to 0. Crowder had to be good to win, for the run scored by the Browns in the ninth on two singles and a walk was the first tally scored off Miller in 27 innings. Not a single extra-base hit was made by either team.

Owen Carroll pitched Detroit to a 4 to 0 decision over Alphonse Thomas of the White Sox.

Sunny Jim Bottomley, who has been hitting under 300 this season, came to life with two home runs and a double that helped the Cardinals trounce the Pirates, 10 to 9. Jim Wilson's double broke up the game in the tenth.

St. Louis now leads the league with a half-game margin over the Cubs, who were idle yesterday.

Boston performed a double autopsy upon the ailing Giants, taking both twins of a twin bill by scores of 4 to 3 and 5 to 4. Joe Dugan replaced Lester Bell at third base for Boston and got five hits, his double and Maguire's two-bagger off "No-Hit" Hubbell winning the second game in the tenth. Ott of the Giants maintained his lead in the National league home run marathon by hitting his eighth homer of the season in the ninth.

The Braves passed Pittsburgh and went into third place.
Lefty O'Doul clouted his sixth and seventh homers of the year as the Phillies trimmed Brooklyn, 7 to 4. It was the Robins' ninth straight defeat and Dazzy Vance's second consecutive setback.

Jim Bottomley Clubs Pirates Into Defeat

First Sacker Clouts Two Homers, Double and Single.

PITTSBURGH, May 17.—The St. Louis Cardinals achieved a 10 to 9 victory over Pittsburgh here yesterday in ten innings largely through the heavy swatting of Jim Bottomley, first baseman, who made two homers early in the game and a double in the ninth that tied the score.

Holm scored the winning run in the tenth after reaching first on Adams' fumble. Gelbert sacrificed him to second and Wilson's double put the run in the bag with one out.

Bison Track Squad to Take On Genevans

Nussmen Hope to Keep Slate Clean for Season.

BETHANY, W. Va., May 17.—Track fans of the Ohio valley will be given a real treat next Saturday if they visit Bethany to see the dual meet between Bethany and Geneva colleges.

Geneva comes here with a great array of track and field stars and they hold victories over Carnegie Tech and Grove City in their record for this year.

In Friedman, Geneva has one of the outstanding javelin throwers of the country. He competed in the West Virginia indoor meet early in the spring and carried off top honors in his favorite event with a throw of 183 feet and some inches. He followed this by competing in the Penn relays where he placed second to the greatest array of javelin throwers ever assembled at one time. While here, Friedman is expected to set a new state and district record in this event.

Coach Furman L. Nuss is working on the theory that Friedman can win but one event and he is counting upon his well balanced team to come through with another victory. The showing of the team in the meet with Duquesne last Saturday was for the most part very satisfying to the Bethany mentor. The only event in which the Bisons were weak was the discus throw and the coach is working over time this week to strengthen this department of the team.

If Bethany can carry off the meet with Geneva they will go undefeated during the present year as they have but one more dual meet on their schedule, that being with Waynesburg, another tri-state conference rival about whom little has been heard this year.

The victory of the Bethany Bisons over Duquesne university last Saturday was very gratifying to Bison followers. The meet saw the coming forth of another future Bison star, in Ballard Damschroder who already is well known in the tri-state district for his prowess as a member of the Bethany football team and as a star guard on the championship Bison basketball team.

Edwards Batters Way To Victory Over Todd

Chester Welterweight Wins Greatest Fight of His Career to Date; Perronie Out-points Munroe; Fields K. O. Winner.

THE Valley A. C. last night rang down the curtain on the indoor season at Wellsville with one of the greatest fistic presentations of the current season. Three sixes and two fours Matchmaker Foutts gave a crowd and the participants in every bout contributed to the general hilarity and success of the occasion by punching noses and chins with reckless abandon and good solid rights and lefts. There were more iron-jawed pugs exhibited in that ring in the one night than there was for the whole season.

Only one knockout was pealed off despite the wholesale punching and that occurred in the opening setto when Ross Fields, the flashy 119-pound Weirton southpaw, won over Mike Malloy of New Kensington in the third round of a scheduled four. Fields' left was a highly potent weapon and he used it almost exclusively in polishing off the Pennsylvania.

If Joe Todd, the courageous Pittsburgh welterweight, didn't have a cast iron mug, then it must have been concrete. And Freddy Edwards, the Chester puncher, battled his way to a decision in six rounds of terrific slugging that proved a sensational climax to the program and the entire season.

Throwing reserve and caution to the winds, swinging both arms with but one thought in view—to show a lot of people that he's game and can take it as well as give it—Edwards fought his way last night to the greatest victory of his career to date.

He flung his customary methods into the discard and went out swinging at Todd from the first bell on. It was a hard fight, it was a gruelling struggle every minute, a real classic between two stout-hearted, hard hitting, downright game battlers who wouldn't quit.

Todd Heavier.
Todd fought Edwards several weeks ago at 141 pounds. Last night he came in at 145 pounds, just a half-pound less than Edwards.

Edwards' superior reach was one of the deciding factors.
They sparred in the middle of the ring to open the first round. Edwards slipped a left to Todd's face and Todd jabbed back. Todd rushed Edwards to the ropes. Edwards swung a hard left to Todd's heart on the ropes and Todd retaliated with a left hook to the body. Edwards jabbed Todd's face repeatedly with a straight left. Both were sporting nice ripe, red beaks when the bell stopped them. It was Edwards' round.

Edwards fired lefts and rights to the body and head in the second. Todd hunched his shoulder and bored into Edwards, rushing the West Virginian into the ropes in a wild flurry of blows. Edwards hooked sharply to the chin. Todd rushed again but caught a faceful of knuckles. Edwards attacked Todd savagely but his range was faulty and he missed two right hooks. The round was even.

Edwards again carried the fight to Todd. He jarred Todd with right and left to the head. Edwards continued his barrage, swinging with incessant fury. They swung mitts, toe to toe, with Todd's back to the heart and dazed the Pittsburgher with a left hook to the jaw. Todd was momentarily groggy, but swung back, wildly. It was Edwards' round.

Edwards, in the fourth, began to chop down with that right, on Todd's head and neck as the Pittsburgher crunched. Todd bored in and rushed. They were swinging wildly and both appeared tired. They slugged it out in another wild round which was Edwards'.

Results of Edwards' hooks to the face were visible as Todd came out of the fifth with his left eye closed, bulging and blackening up. From then on Todd was laboring under a handicap. He had but one eye. But he still had two fists and despite his disadvantage, the game Pennsylvania fired away with all he had.

Edwards uncorked a series of right uppercuts that came swinging into Todd's face and chest as he crouched. Edwards' hooks and swings were slipping off Todd's head but the Chester welter's uppercut was finding its mark, largely because Todd appeared too leg weary to get out of the way. Edwards labored vainly for a knock out in the fifth and the sixth rounds and while he sent that right uppercut to Todd's face, chin and heart repeatedly, Todd was still on his feet when the final bell sounded.

Pat Perronie, Canton light heavyweight, won from Frank Munroe, New Kensington, in another six-rounder.

Perronie, a smarter and faster boxer than Munroe, outjabbed and outscored Munroe for four rounds, until Munroe came out of his shell in the fifth and the sixth to slug with the Cantonian.

Munroe can't box a lick, but has dynamite in both gloves. He had his right cocked back for a big killing but it never found its mark.

Largely as a result of his rally in the fifth and the sixth rounds, Mickey Hart of New Kensington won the nod over Harry Morris, Weirton, in another hard battle. It had been pretty even until the final rounds.

Fearless Franks of East Liverpool and Poison Pizzone of Wellsville produced an exciting four-rounder in the second bout on the card. It was labored as a winner-take-all.

A number of individuals had money on the outcome of the scrap and sentimentality, obviously, swayed their judgment. It is tough to see a favorite lose, especially if you've got dough on him, although in this case, there wasn't much to go and come on, and so those individuals who had their hard earned money on the result can get together and figure out the result themselves.

In any event, the two little pugs got together after their scrap, shook hands in the dressing room and decided to split the purse.

Mayor Wallace L. Fogo of Wellsville entered the ring last night, although not as a contender for pugilistic honors. The mayor commented briefly on the good order that had been maintained by the fight fans throughout the season and tendered the audience an invitation to come back again.

CANADIAN DOCTOR GRIEF-STRICKEN

CLEVELAND, May 17.—(INS).—Grief-stricken over the death of his sweetheart, a nurse in the ill-fated Cleveland clinic, Dr. Campbell McIntyre, youthful Canadian physician, nevertheless worked feverishly to save those of the blast victims who escaped alive.

Then, today, when his presence was no longer essential, Dr. McIntyre gave way to his grief, and locked himself in his room.

Young Dr. McIntyre, until recently of Winnipeg, and Miss Frances Sertelle, of Cleveland, were sweethearts, a mutual friend told International News Service this afternoon.

"Dr. McIntyre thought the world of her. I think they planned to be married—as so many of our nurses here," an attaché at the clinic said.

COMMON COLDS ARE DANGEROUS

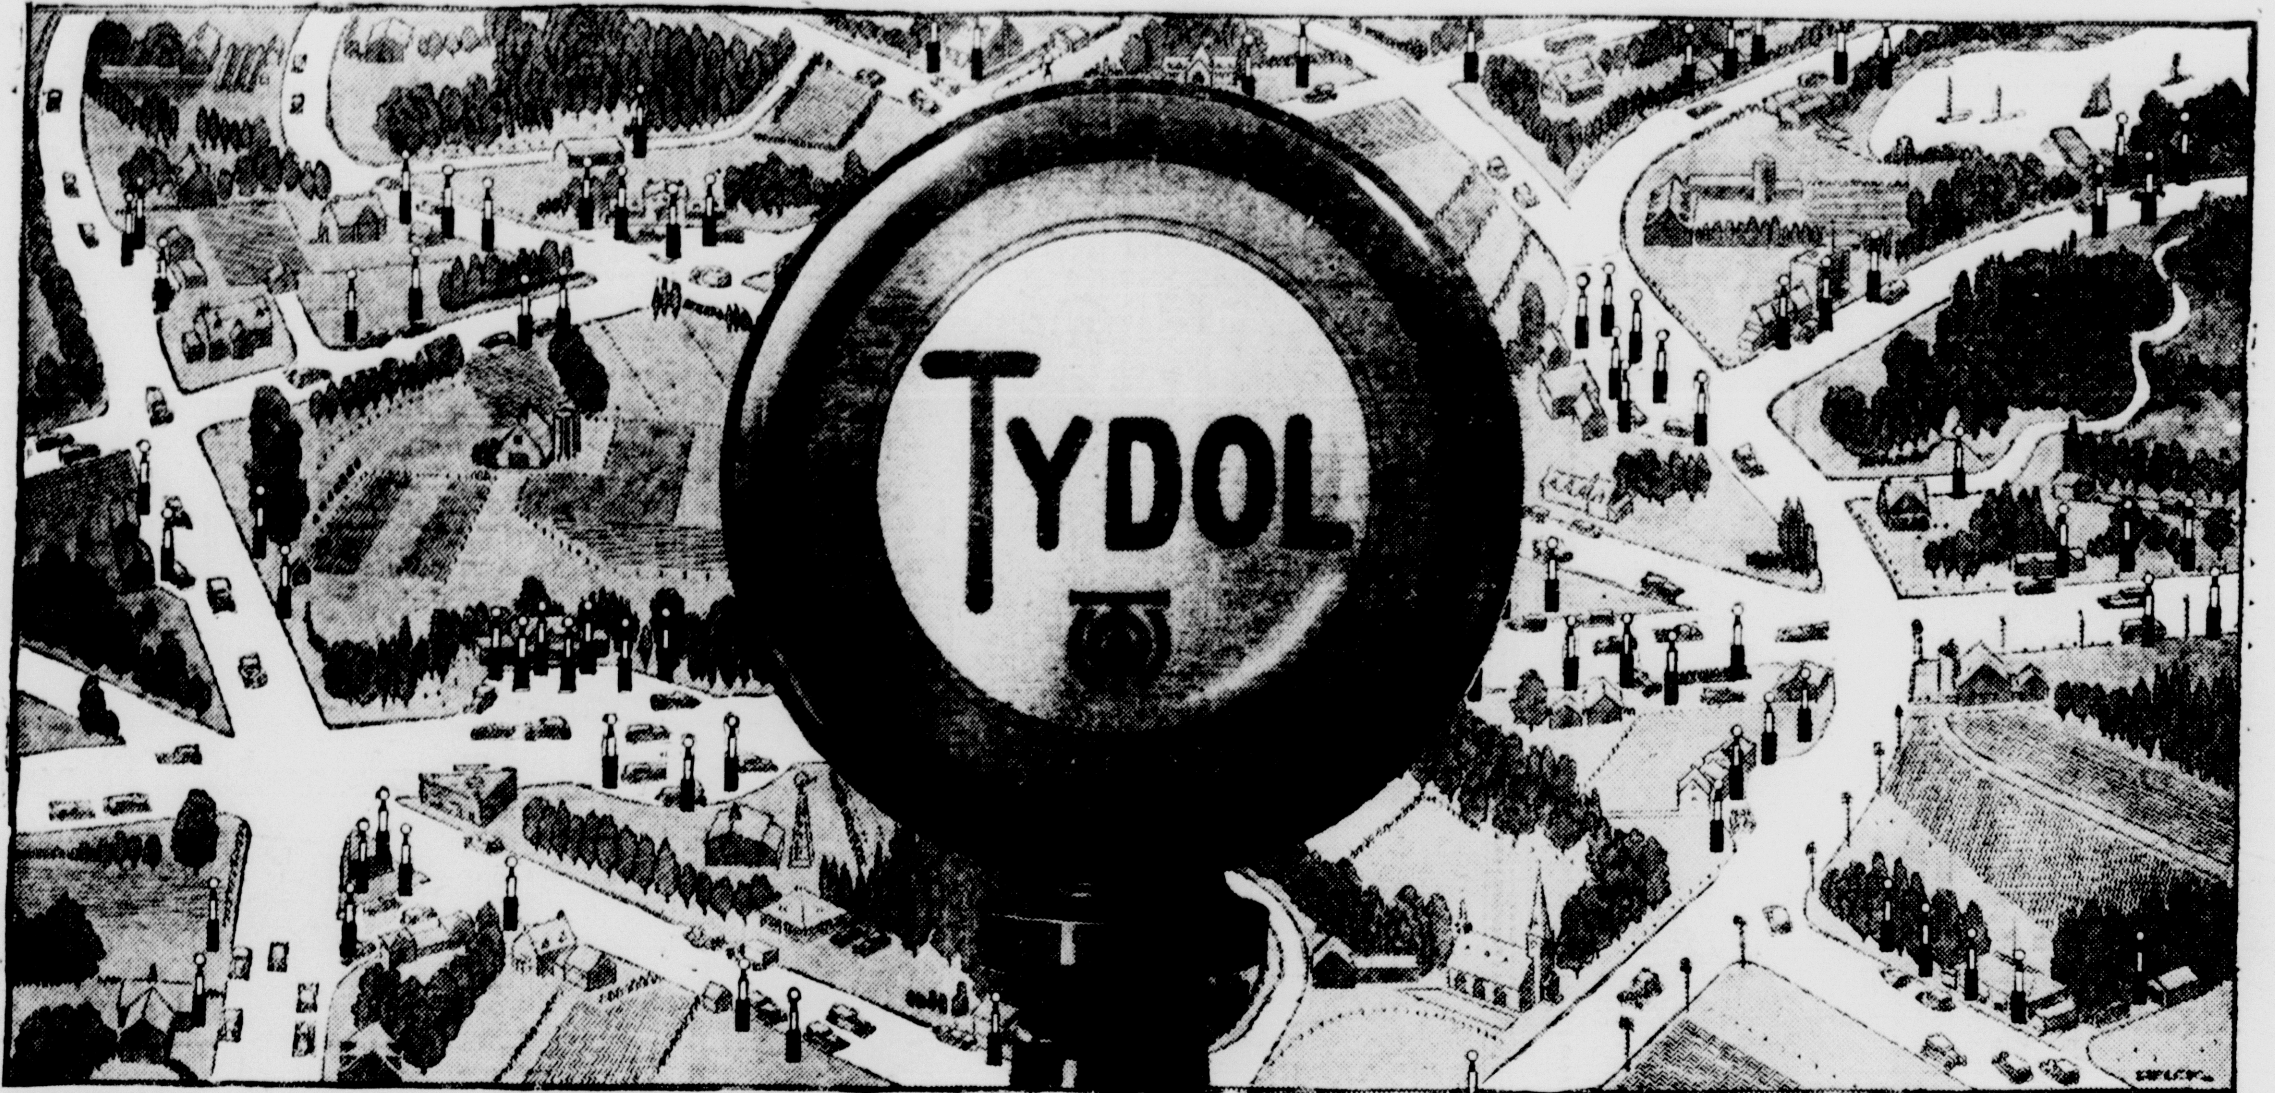

Many Serious Ailments Get Their Start From Little Colds

Some day people will learn to appreciate the serious dangers of ordinary colds and how they weaken general health. Every day some one reports a long period of illness following a cold. Colds weaken people so that one is hardly over until another one starts. They set up an inflammation of the membranes that line the nose and throat, and these in turn extend the inflammation to the stomach and bowels. After a few weeks of this the entire mucous membrane is likely to be quite catarrhal.

When it is remembered that practically everything we need to sustain life—the air we breathe, the food we eat and water we drink—must be absorbed through these membranes, the importance of keeping them free from catarrh will be understood. Many a person suffers agonies from a catarrhal stomach, and many can trace their decline in health back to this condition in stomach, bowels or nose and throat. That is why prompt treatment of a catarrhal condition, however slight it may appear, is of real importance. World's Tonic should be taken whenever the slightest stomach or bowel trouble manifests itself, for the leading doctors of the world have agreed that everyone's bowels should move freely three times every day. In that way the ravages of catarrh may be checked and much suffering avoided.

A great host of people have used World's Tonic for catarrh. In many cases it has been used to relieve stomach trouble of long standing that was evidently catarrhal in its origin. Wherever there is a stagnation of blood in the membranes there usually is catarrh. Prevent it from disabling you by this valuable new World's Tonic, which can be obtained of Carnahan's, also C. M. Brauman's at Wellsville, or any other first class drug store. (A-63)-Adv.

X-RAY DEFENDED BY MME. CURIE

Woman Scientist Hints Wiring Caused Clinic Disaster.

PARIS, May 17. — (INS.)—Mme. Curie, the world's foremost woman scientist and co-discoverer of radium with her husband, expressed belief today that electrical apparatus or wiring may have caused the Cleveland disaster with the loss of 118 lives.

Mme. Curie and Dr. Ferrou, director of the Curie radiography service, united in this belief.

In an exclusive statement to International News Service, Mme. Curie said:

"I do not see how the X-ray can be indicted on account of the Cleveland explosion. I think it could have been caused only by a short circuit. X-rays are perfectly safe, but a short circuit is a purely electrical accident which might happen anywhere."

LEGION POST TO BUY HOME

Veterans Will Acquire Reformed Church Property.

John Welsh post, No. 275, American Legion, probably will acquire the property of the First Reformed church as a permanent home. The church was built about 20 years ago. Two years ago there was a suspension of services because the congregation was small. The Rev. I. J. Havrill was the last pastor. Recently the Legionnaires appointed a committee, composed of George C. Porter, the first commander; Clarence Ball and Earl Richardson, to confer with the conference officers of the Reformed church. The latter officers will ask common pleas court for permission to dispose of the property.

The property has a frontage of 51 feet on West Lincoln way and a depth of 160 feet. The building is of brick. It is centrally located, being but a square and one-half west of the courthouse.

South African railways are to have two of the largest locomotives in the world outside America; each will be 90 feet long, weigh 220 tons, and cost $12,500.

Local Man Was Skeptical Till 'Orange Root' Proved Its Worth

Mr. Geo. H. Johnson, For 16 Weeks a Physical Wreck, Says He Was Dubious About "ORANGE ROOT" as Nothing Else Has Ever Done Him Any Good.

Says It Has Proved the Glorious Exception in His Case and That It Is Really Astounding What It Has Done For Him — Telling Everybody.

"ORANGE ROOT" is truly all they claim for it and MORE, says Mr. Geo. H. Johnson, of Gardendale, East Liverpool, Ohio. Mr. Johnson is very well known from one end of town to the other, and enjoys the respect and esteem of the entire city. Continuing Mr. Johnson says: "For 16 weeks I was laid up with a severe case of influenza and was unable to do a thing. My whole system was poisoned with this dread disease and completely deranged my whole system. My nerves were all shot, and I could not eat or sleep at night. Dreadful pains through my stomach kept me in misery all day long. I was constipated, bilious and subject to terrible dizzy spells. The poison in my system was sapping all my strength and vitality, for I was weaker than a cat. Indeed, I was on the verge of a nervous breakdown. Friends who realized the seriousness of my condition, urged me to try this 'ORANGE ROOT' Iron & Celery Compound. I was dubious about taking it for not a thing had given me the slightest relief. But, to my surprise and amazement, ORANGE ROOT proved to be the exception to the rule. It is really astounding what this wonderful compound has done for me. I have taken 3 bottles of it and a few of those golden Nuggets, and can truthfully say, I FEEL LIKE A NEW MAN. Gone is all my former stomach misery; my nerves are quiet and steady; I have no more dizzy spells or attacks of biliousness. I sleep soundly all night long and get up in the morning feeling rested and comfortable; my strength has been greatly increased, for I no longer feel tired and draggy. I can eat ANYTHING now and it seems to agree with me. My whole system seems to be strengthened and invigorated, for I feel exhilarated all over. The golden Nuggets ended my liver and bowel troubles, for I do not have to take a laxative every night as before. It is no wonder they are selling so much ORANGE ROOT here, for it surely DOES THE WORK. I am so happy over the wonderful improvement in my condition, that I am telling everybody about ORANGE ROOT".

Endorsements and recommendations like the above are pouring in daily at MATHEWS MEDICINE STORE, where the special Orange Root representative is daily meeting great crowds, explaining and introducing this marvel of the age to the public. Go there at once, get a treatment of 3 bottles of the TONIC, a box of the golden Nuggets, take them according to directions and you too, will be surprised at the RAPID and LASTING good they do you. Prices TONIC $1.25, Nuggets, 50c. FREE samples of the Nuggets to all at MATHEWS CUT RATE MEDICINE STORE, headquarters for ORANGE ROOT in East Liverpool. Add 10c extra for parcel post charges if your local druggist cannot supply you.

DEATH PENALTY BILL IS VETOED

LANSING, Mich., May 17.—(INS.)—One minute after it was placed on his desk yesterday, Governor Fred W. Green vetoed the death penalty bill. "Regardless of the merits of the controversy on capital punishment," the governor said in his veto message, "it was one of the most extreme and inflexible measures of its kind that has ever been proposed."
The bill, the first to successfully pass both houses of the Michigan state legislature since 1846, required without exception that the death penalty be inflicted on every person convicted of first-degree murder, regardless of age, sex or circumstances.

WE DELIVER

To Make Even Inexpensive Glass and China Sparkle

Simple New Way Does Wonders And Is Kind To Pretty Hands—Use Any Ordinary Soap

Even the most inexpensive table china and glassware can be made to look far better than its price in a simple way. It can be given the brilliancy and sparkle of the most costly kinds; and glassware particularly is judged by its sparkle.

Simply add one teaspoonful of the cleansing preparation called CLIMALENE to your water. Use the same soap you ordinarily do, but use only ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity. Wash as usual.

This preparation is a grease dissolvent, while soap is, strictly speaking, a grease. Thus it gives shine and sparkle while soap often leaves a greasy film that's hard to get rid of even with the most careful drying.

Most hotels use this method to make glass and china gleam. Housewives like it not only for this reason, but because it acts to soften and whiten skin fabric of the hands.
Results are surprising. Try it. Get at any grocery store in 10c or 25c package. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

RIVER DRAGGED FOR LAD'S BODY

ATHENS, O., May 17.—(INS.)—Firemen and police united their efforts today in dragging the Hocking river here for the body of Cladius Rosen Nedry, 20, of Wheaton, Ill., a sophomore at Ohio university, Athens, who was drowned Wednesday night.

Nedry and several companions attempted to swim the river, which was near flood stage. The strong current swept him down stream and he disappeared beneath the surface. His body has not yet been recovered. Just a few minutes before he went to his tragic death he had participated in the annual freshman sophomore tug-of-war.

Forbidden Door

Story of Adventurous Youth, Mystery, Fortune and a Girl.

By Herman Landon

"How are you, my boy? At last I see you again. Yes, I know you can't see me, but don't let that alarm you. You will understand soon. We can't talk now. I must go, but soon—very soon—we shall meet again, and then you'll see me. I've aged a lot; you will hardly recognize your old dad."

Hannan felt an arr. about his shoulder and a gentle pressure. The barrier was rapidly thawing away, but even yet he could not overcome the restraint he felt.

"Just a word of warning, my boy. You have heard it before. No matter what may happen, you must never, never pass through the iron door—not unless your grandfather's clock should stop, at any rate. There are forces at work behind that door which are too powerful for me. I can't control them. Instead they control me. So don't forget. I know you and the others are in a fearful predicament. But there is something even worse behind the iron door. Maybe I can find a way out for you. In any event, you must promise me that you won't disobey Old Winthrop's warning."

"Yes—dad. I promise." A hand patted Hannan's shoulder, and then he was left alone. Once more the automatic pistol appeared, hanging in midair as it pointed in Peter's direction.

"Come, Peters. Some one is waiting to see you."

"Where?" asked Peters chokingly.

"You will see. Come."

Peters gulped, stared at the automatic, and with a drunken stagger, moved toward the door. Now and then he looked back, but all he could perceive were footsteps that pursued him and a wisp of smoke that seemed to direct. Hannan watched and listened until Peters cringing figure and the ghostly footprints reached the door. Did he only imagine it, or was there a shadow rising over the floor, where the footprints touched it, a vague, misty, as yet shapeless something that remotely suggested a human form?

He was too dazed and shaken to pursue the speculation. He sat down on the bed, his thoughts groping unsteadily about the astounding thing that had happened, his eyes meanwhile fixed on the floor. Something seemed to be coming to life down there. There was a vague flutter of color, a pale wisp of green winked in the light of the candle, very pale and indistinct at first, but gradually assuming definite shape and hue.

It was Horace Peters' handkerchief. By the way, what was happening to Peters?

Mallingham's Dream.

Mallingham found Julia in a very small room just off the main library. It was a restful little snugery, just the kind of den where one likes to retire for a quiet hour with a favorite book.

Julia showed the effects of a sleepless night. There were shadows under her pale blue eyes, and her face bore a transparent pallor. Her delicate features, usually so vital and robust, had been touched by the vandalism of dread and anxiety. Mallingham, on the other hand, though also looking haggard and worn, carried himself with an air of grim restlessness that counteracted his appearance of fatigue. His dominant nature asserted itself in even such trifles as a fresh-shaven face, immaculate linen and an unwrinkled suit.

He rested his arm on the back of a chair and stood looking down at her with a faintly derisive smile.

"Entombed in this sort doesn't agree with your particular kind of beauty," he bluntly told her. She scarcely stirred, but merely sat twisting her slim, white fingers in a hopeless way.

Mallingham sat down and lighted a cigarette. "I've been doing a little problem in arithmetic," he announced. "One has to do something to while away the time. The result of my calculations was a brand-new mystery."

"Yes, Ernest?" she said listlessly.

"It stands to reason," Mallingham explained, "that in a given number of cubic feet there can be only a definite quantity of air. Including the servants, there are sixteen pairs of lungs in the house. Ordinarily our supply of air should have been exhausted twelve hours ago."

"I don't quite understand."

"Well, if my calculations are correct, our supply of air is being replenished from some mysterious source. Where it comes from is a puzzle, for there is an airtight crust all around us. Not that one mystery more or less makes any difference in a place like this."

Julia showed only slight interest.

"I saw John and Hefflinger at work trying to brace up some of the weaker spots," he reported. Hefflinger was a sight for the gods in a pair of borrowed overalls. I wish them success. While there is life there is hope."

Julia shrugged her slight shoulders disconsolately.

Mallingham regarded her with a critical and slightly supercilious gaze. "You were charming as a widow," he commented. "I was almost on the point of falling in love with you, although I had made it the rule of my life not to take a beautiful woman too seriously. A little play, a little laughter, a kiss now and then, an occasional hour of charming companionship—that's as far as a prudent man should go. Well, your days of widowhood are over now."

"Why, Ernest? What are you saying?"

"Isn't it fairly evident that Maxwell Martenet, your errant husband, is alive? That voice last night—"

"Only a trick," she declared vehemently. "Some sort of legerdemain. It was only a crude bit of hocus-pocus."

"Perhaps so. For your sake I hope you are right. These Enoch Arden episodes are always awkward for the woman in the case. But it was Maxwell Martenet's voice. I could have sworn it was."

"But now you are not so sure?"

"Well, it was like sitting in at a seance. While it lasted I was convinced. Afterward my sober second thought got in its work. To be candid with you, I don't know what to think."

"It's preposterous!" Julia declared with a show of feeling. "Nobody has ever yet discovered a way to make himself invisible. Nobody but a fool would attempt it."

"Nobody would attempt to send wireless messages until some fool showed how it was to be done," Mallingham retorted with a sneer. "But let's be practical, my dear. If I must die, I want to die with my boots on. I refuse to acknowledge defeat till I am dead. You and I and Peters—curses on the double-crossing little crook!—came here with a certain definite object in view. Owing to a series of miscalculations and unforeseen developments, we are yet a long way from the attainment of that object. We know, however, that there is something to be found behind the iron door which, if properly exploited, will be worth millions. We want those millions."

"It was your idea. You persuaded me to come out here. I was not very enthusiastic, as you know. But you insisted."

"I insisted because of a dream I've been nursing ever since I was a boy. I have always wanted to be rich. One of life's bitterest tragedies is the combination of a millionaire's tastes and a piker's purse. I crave ease and wealth and luxuries and pleasure. Destiny made a blunder when she made me a poor man. I intend to rectify that blunder. And the quickest and easiest way to rectify it is by getting hold of the thing Old Winthrop left behind the iron door."

"If we could only be sure," Julia murmured. "We don't know anything definite. The thing may not be worth much."

"If that's the case, why did Old Winthrop guard it so zealously? Didn't he take the most extreme precautions against any one finding it?"

Julia was silent.

"This is my idea," said Mallingham, edging his chair closer to the settee in which she sat in a drooping attitude. "Not so long ago Maxwell was as clay in your hands. You could twist him around your finger whenever you desired to do so. He loved you madly, and his love made him a coward and a slave. Being much older than you, he knew he had to humor your whims in order to hold you. You worked on that adoring and cowardly attitude of his. You coaxed him to reveal certain things which he had pledged himself not to talk about. Little by little, hint by hint, you wormed out of him various bits of information concerning the experiments Old Winthrop had been conducting at Valhalla Notch and of which Old Winthrop had told him in confidence. True, he didn't tell you very much, but then it's possible that Old Winthrop hadn't told him everything. You learned enough, however, to convince us that something of colossal value was to be found here."

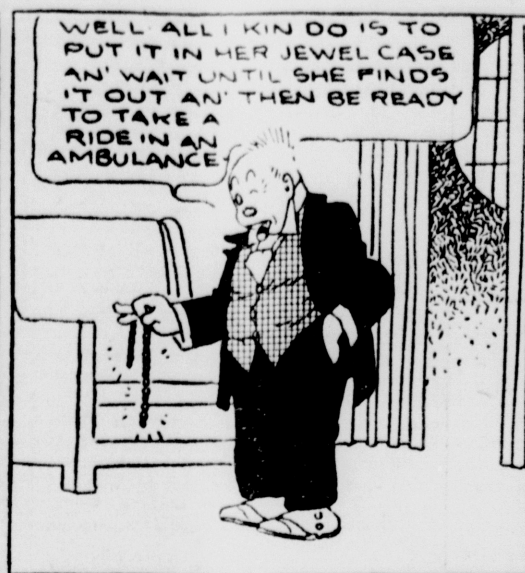

"Oh, Ernest," said Julia wearily, "why go into all this?"

Does your husband leave this up to you?

If you have the responsibility of looking after the family car, there are some things you ought to know about motor oil . . . Things which nobody has cared to talk about before.

Oil must meet four requirements, engineers say, if lubrication is to be both complete and correct. Motor oil must provide—the 4 essentials of complete and proper lubrication

1. LOW CARBON CONTENT
2. NON-FOULING CARBON
3. IDEAL BODY AT ALL OPERATING TEMPERATURES
4. LOW POUR POINT

Thousands of automobile owners have found that there is one oil—Shell Motor Oil—which has all four of these characteristics.

Many otherwise good lubricants leave excessive carbon of a hard, flinty nature. But Shell forms little carbon, 20 to 33 per cent less than most oils.

And the little carbon which it forms is soft, fluffy, non-fouling. It blows away with the exhaust gases.

Shell Motor Oil has ideal body at all operating temperatures. That means it has courage and a fighting heart . . . it won't break down and cause trouble through long, hard service. You may never need to drive sixty miles an hour, but it's good to know you can with safety to your engine.

And Shell Motor Oil has a low pour point to make starting easy in cold weather.

Regular users of Shell Motor Oil tell of marked reduction in carbon removal jobs. They report amazing trouble-free performance, enjoy lowered operating costs and have fewer repair bills.

The quality which makes such satisfactory performance possible, is due to two things: the selection of the crude petroleum which forms the base of Shell Motor Oil, and the refining process which prepares that crude for use.

Shell's vast oil fields produce a great quantity of crude oil from which Shell selects its lubricating stock. And the refining process developed and used exclusively by Shell, prepares this crude in a very special way. Then Shell Motor Oil passes 259 tests before it is sealed for shipment from the refinery.

STOP AT THE SIGN OF THE SHELL

You'll find courteous attendants who will be glad to drain the crankcase of your car and refill with the right amount and correct grade of Shell Motor Oil. The familiar yellow and red service stations are convenient everywhere.

If you have a car, but no husband . . .

The business woman who drives a car should be particularly concerned with the economy of operation and the continuous trouble-free service which the use of Shell Motor Oil assures.

Women like 400 "Extra Dry" Shell Gasoline because it starts quickly and delivers the extra ounces of power when needed. Ought to cost more, but it doesn't.

DREDGE BOAT, CONSTRUCTED IN STEEL CITY, GOES TO MISSISSIPPI RIVER

Midland Barge Company Builds Craft for United Dredging Company—
Crew of 20 is Carried.

MIDLAND, Pa., May 17.—The Douglass, towboat of the Esley Barge Line of Cincinnati, left today for Calumet, Ill., with the large dredge boat which was constructed by the Midland Barge works for the United Dredging company. The craft will be used in Mississippi river channel digging.

The hoist supports and boom were carried on the decks of the dredge.
Because of the short clearance under many of the Ohio river bridges the boom will be erected at Calumet.

Elmer Parks, Midland avenue, former cook at the City restaurant, is in charge of the gallery. The boat will carry a crew of 20 men.

The craft, of square bow construction, is 159 feet long and 70 feet wide and the hull is 13.5 feet deep, drawing only four feet of water. The cabin is two stories. The boom is 250 feet long, and stands 85 feet above the main deck level. The bucket will carry 19 cubic yards of earth.

The hull is made up of eight watertight compartments. One division houses the machine shop and forges for repairs and another holds the fuel oil for the engines.

Two steel barges of the open type used for coal and iron are near completion for the Wheeling Steel Corporation, Wheeling, W. Va.

An all-steel, fireproof engine house is being erected at the barge yards here in place of the wooden one destroyed last month by fire. New air compressing engines and tool cabinets will be installed in the new building.

FOUNDRY GETS $600,000 PACT FROM ALABAMA

Mackintosh-Hemphill
Company Works

12-HOUR SHIFTS

No Accidents This Month in Midland
Plant.

MIDLAND, Pa., May 17.—A contract valued at $600,000, which will keep the plant operating night and day for more than seven months, has been awarded the Mackintosh-Hemphill foundry, Eleventh street, by the Gulf States Steel corporation, Alabama. It was announced today by C. J. Roller, general superintendent.

The contract calls for a universal mill weighing 3,000 tons, which when finished will dress steel and iron billets and roll them into finished products. The parts will be cast here and partially assembled and shipped to Alabama where the plant will be erect-
